VARSITY GOLF

STANFORD'S VARSITY GOLF TEAM, almost perpetually a strong outfit, lived up this year to advance notices by going through the season undefeated. The Card golfers, under the coaching of Eddie Twiggs, started off the season with a bang by annexing the team championship at the Pacific Coast Intercollegiates. The Cards nosed out the Trojans of U. S. C. by one point for the title with the California Bears in third place. The four Card divot diggers who carried the Indians through to victory were Al Hyman, Art Doering, Warren McCanles and Bill Boyd. In dual meet competition the Indians won two matches each from U. S. C. and U. C. L. A., and claimed one win over California. The Cards were heavy favorites up to press time to whip the Bears in the second match. The Stanfords engaged an intersectional opponent in the University of Oklahoma and emerged with a 13-5 victory. The U. S. C. Trojans went down 16½-10½ and 18½-8½. The U. C. L. A. Bruins fell before the swings of the Cards 22½-4½ and 22½-4½. The Indians then went to work to slaughter Cal, 24½-2½. Boyd scored a 67 to win 3-0; Doering scored a 66 to win 3-0; Brown Cannon won 3-0 with a 66; John Wallace made a 68 and won 3-0; Hyman's 70 gave him a 3-0 win; and Jim Rea won 2½-½ on a 72. Wright, Kennedy, Showalter and Breyer won in doubles.

FRESHMAN GOLF

STANFORD'S FROSH came through with another great golf team and gave Coach Eddie Twiggs notice that several of their members will strengthen next year's varsity team. The frosh slipped up in one meet to lose the first match dropped by a freshman team in four years. The debacle came in the third meet of the season when the divot diggers of Menlo Junior College upset the young Indians, 5-4. The first meet of the year found the Cards swamping the golfers of Polytechnic High School of San Francisco, 9-0. The second match score was figured on the basis of points instead of matches and the Cards whipped Lowell High of San Francisco, 20½-6½. After the defeat at the hands of the Menloites, the frosh ran up against San Mateo J. C. and emerged the victor by a score of 9-0. In their last match the Card yearlings kept tradition alive by whipping the Cubs from Berkeley, 17-10. Among the outstanding frosh golfers who will be trying for varsity berths next year is Syd Hayes, who spends a good deal of his time out on the track under the eye of Dink Templeton. Hayes is quite a golfer besides being one of the best frosh hurdlers in Stanford's history. Warren Berl contributed in large part to the success of the yearlings as did Henry Hinds, Bill Menley, Hal Stone, Don Haslett, Art Gore and George Bradley.
