All-American Joel Kribel enters the season as the nation's No. 5-ranked collegiate golfer. Photo USGA/John Mummert

a sport that traditionally emphasizes individual ability, the success of the 1998-99 men's golf team will depend on how well the team will work together. Three-time All-American Joel Kribel will unite with a strong group of sophomores and juniors. Add three outstanding freshmen to the squad, and head coach Wally Goodwin has a still-young team, but one that is stronger and more mature.

"We're going to generate some electricity this season," Goodwin said. "We're going to be more competitive."

Goodwin returns most of his team from last year, losing only Eri Crum to graduation. Goodwin said he wanted to emphasize that last year's team wasn't bad, just young and subject to forces of nature.

"We got off to a shaky start, then El Niño hit us in the wintertime, so we didn't play any golf until late winter. When we finally started playing, we were okay. We were just so far behind, we couldn't catch up."

The Cardinal will be anchored by senior captain Kribel, who will play the No. 1 position. Kribel enters the season ranked fifth in the nation by the MasterCard Collegiate Golf poll.

"He's a good player, practices hard and is persistent," Goodwin said. "He could well be the best captain I've had since I've been at Stanford. He's got a great sense of humor, but he's tough. In a position of leadership, he's not going to let anybody get off easy."

Outlook Promising for Young, Experienced Stanford Squad

Kribel shot a 70-66 at the U.S. Amateur this year to earn medalist honors, then bowed out in the first round. In his previous two appearances at the event, he was last year's runner up, as well as a semi-finalist two seasons ago.

Kribel also participated at the U.S. Open, held at the Olympic Club in San Francisco. Two summers ago, he participated in Walker Cup and Palmer Cup matches while qualifying for the U.S. Open and Western Open.

"Joel's played nationally so much," Goodwin said, "He knows what it takes to get to the next level beyond college. That kind of experience will be valuable to our team."

Kribel earned First Team All-America honors for the second year in a row after recording five top-three and eleven top-10 finishes. He won The PING/Arizona Intercollegiate with a career-low 200, including tying a career-low 65 in the third round. He finished in a tie for second place at the NCAA Championships, playing all four rounds below par, for a 272 total.

Junior Dusty Brett competed in all 12 events for the Cardinal a year ago, tallying two top-10 and four top-25 finishes. He earned Second Team Pac-10 All-Academic honors and Honorable Mention All Pac-10 recognition. He fired a career-low 68 in the opening round of the Nike/Northwest Classic, finishing second with a season-best 214. He also finished tied for fourth place at Stanford's U.S. Intercollegiate.

"He's an 150 percent guy in every way," Goodwin said. "He's awesome."

Goodwin further described Brett as hardworking, mentally tough, and gregarious; a player who will be a huge part of the Cardinal's success this season.

Goodwin will also be looking to a pair of hardworking sophomores, Jimmy Lee and Alex Aragon, to contribute.

Both players saw a lot of action in their first year of collegiate play. Lee competed in nine events, placing 13th at the UTEP Intercollegiate and shot a career-low 67 in the second round of the Nike/Northwest Classic, his first collegiate tournament. Aragon participated in eight events.

"The stroke averages for these guys is only onetenth of a shot apart," Goodwin said. "This will be a tandem of golfers that will do pretty well." Junior Tylar Lunke competed in seven events for the Cardinal last season and has spent this summer working on his game.

"Tylar's going to be much more of a force this year," Goodwin said. "He's also a team guy. He also gives so much leadership to this team."

Also competing for playing time will be seniors Tyler Dennis and David Searle, and sophomores Rudy Barreto and Eric Dahlberg.

Three freshmen, or "unknown entities" according to Goodwin, join the team. Del deWindt of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., was the 1998 state individual golf champion, and also earned state championships in hockey and lacrosse. He was a two-time finalist for the Detroit Athletic Club's Michigan High School Athlete of the Year and was the first male athlete in 50 years to win 12 varsity letters at his school.

K.C. Yasmer, a Tucson, Ariz. native, represented Arizona in the 1996 American's Cup Matches in Vancouver, B.C., and the 1997 Hogan Cup matches in Portland, Ore. He was also the recipient of the Chrysler Junior Golf Scholarship.

Ned Yetten was the 1997 Massachusetts Junior Player of the Year and a three-time Massachusetts Junior Amateur Champion.

"We have three good freshmen who are going to put the heat on the others a little bit," Goodwin said.

Pac-10 competition will be stiff this year, as four of the conference teams are ranked in the top 25, according to the MasterCard Men's Team Rankings. Arizona State leads the way at No. 8, followed by No. 11 UCLA, No. 13 Arizona and No. 22 California. The Pac-10 Championships will be held at Seattle's Broadmoor Country Club.

Stanford looks to return to the NCAA Championships after failing to qualify for the past two seasons. Goodwin's squad has the potential to contend in the Pac-10 and make an appearance at the NCAAs, to be held at the Hazeltine National Golf Course in Minneapolis, Minn.

"The year we won the national title, we had five juniors on our team," Goodwin said. "This year, it could be one senior, two juniors, two sophomores and a freshman. There's a big difference between those teams. Even though we're still young, we have a pretty tenacious group of guys. I don't think people should sell us short."

Wally Goodwin Men's Golf Coach

Wally Goodwin is entering his 12th year as Stanford head men's golf coach. In his 11 seasons on The Farm, he has produced some of the greatest teams and individual golfers in Stanford history. Among those is Tiger Woods, the most decorated golfer in Cardinal recordbooks. While at Stanford, Woods captured 10 individual tournament titles, including the 1996 NCAA individual championship. Goodwin's 1994 team became the seventh NCAA men's golf championship team in school history when it captured the title for the first time in more than forty years. The 1995 team recorded a second-place finish at the NCAA tournament.

> In the past five years alone, Goodwin's teams have posted 19 tournament wins, ten runner-up finishes, and six third-place finishes.

Currently under Goodwin's instruction is All-American Joel Kribel. Kribel is currently ranked No. 5 according to the MasterCard Collegiate Golf Rankings, and has participated in the Masters and U.S. Open as an amateur. He also posted eight top-five finishes last season.

Goodwin's list of accomplishments is highlighted by 1994 NCAA Coach-of-the-Year

honors. He was also named the 1992 and 1995 Pac-10 Coach of the Year. In addition, he has coached two Pac-10 Championship teams, three individual conference champions and seven All-Americans.

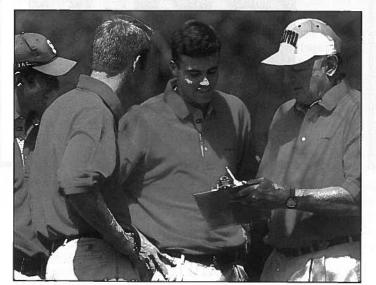

In the past five years alone, Goodwin's teams have posted 19 tournament wins, ten runner-up finishes, and six third-place finishes.

Goodwin's coaching experience spans college and high school athletics. Before Goodwin's stint on The Farm, he spent six years as the head men's golf coach at Northwestern in Evanston, Ill. Goodwin coached All-American Jim Benepe, PGA tour player Fran Quinn and Asian Tour player Don Boulet. Goodwin's involvement in high school athletics began at Fountain Valley High School in Colorado Springs, Colo., where he served as head football and basketball coach as well as assistant director of athletics for four years. He then served as head coaches for football and basketball at Western Reserve Academy. Three years later, Goodwin relocated to Pebble Beach to become the athletic director, basketball coach and golf coach at Robert Louis Stevenson High School. The last three years of Goodwin's 21-year basketball coaching career was spent as an assistant coach at Stetson University in Deland, Fla.

Goodwin graduated from Pomfret High School in Pomfret, Conn. He was honorably discharged from the military in August 1946 after serving in World War II. He then returned to school at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville where he earned a bachelor of science degree in physical education in 1951.

Wally and his wife, the former Nancy Lane Booth, have been married more than 40 years and resides on the Stanford campus. They have two sons, Putter and Reamy, and three grandchildren.

The Knowles Family Endowed Golf Fund

The Men's Golf Program would like to acknowledge the generosity of Ray and Louise Knowles, who recently established the Knowles Family Golf Fund. This endowed fund will provide support for the activities and operations of the men's intercollegiate golf program in perpetuity. Money from this fund will augment the annual gifts to the program to allow the Stanford Men's Golf Team to maintain its high standards of success.

Stanford's Scholarship Funding

Two sources provide scholarship funds for Stanford's student-athletes: the Athletic Department's scholarship endowment and the Buck/Cardinal Club. Together they provide upwards of $9 million in financial aid.

Endowed Scholarships

Endowed scholarships are large sums of money that have been invested in the University's endowment and generate significant interest income each year. A portion of the income is spent on student aid and the remainder is reinvested in the principal.

The following endowed scholarships, named for the donor or for someone the donor wishes to honor, provide full or partial grants-in-aid to members of the 1998-99 men's golf team:

The Berl/Tatum Scholarship: Dusty Brett

The Robert J. Cardinal Scholarship: Rudy Barretto, Del DeWindt and James Lee

The Henry Hinds '41 Memorial Scholarship: Tylar Lunke

The Raymond V. and Louise A. Knowles Scholarship: Joel Kribel

Championship Par Excellence Stanford Golf Course

by Gordon I. Ratliff

In the 1920s, Stanford students lobbied for a golf course. The golf team was using the Burlingame Course for practice and was coached by the Burlingame pro Harold Sampson. Luckily they found an enthusiast in Almon E. Roth '09, the University Controller, who had become hooked on the game and was a member of the Los Altos Country Club. In February 1929, he persuaded the Stanford University Board of Trustees to provide the land and finance the construction. Then he gave instructions to Al Masters, the manager of the Athletic Department, to hire George C. Thomas Jr. and William "Billy" Bill to design and build the course.

Roth had his own ideas as to the layout of the course. When Bell arrived in March they walked the area. Bell immediately saw the possibility of incorporating San Francisquito Creek into the design. To get the land on the other side of the creek, which belonged to the Buck Estate, required a change in the California State Constitution to permit a land swap. Roth flew to Sacramento from the Palo Alto Airport in an open cockpit biplane to lobby for the change.

Construction began in May 1929 with great care to preserve the oak trees. Only 75 had to be removed. At that time water from the irrigation of campus came from Searsville Lake. A lot more water would be required for the golf course, so Felt Lake was enlarged to a capacity of 278,000,000 gallons. By December the course was ready. It opened January 1, 1930. "Dick" Templeton, the track coach who first used starting blocks in track meets, was in the first foursome.

Thomas designed the course and Bell managed the construction. Bell traveled back and forth to Beverly Hills updating Thomas on his progress and getting further instructions. Thomas was ill and died a couple of years later having never seen the results of his effort. A very unique feature of the course was Bell's bunker design. It was very natural with edges that were not well defined.

The course cost $188,000 and enlarging Felt Lake was $190,000. The club house, which cost $54,000, was designed by the architects Bakewell and Brown, who had designed many buildings on campus and were noted for having done City Hall in San Francisco. Club member Wells P. Goodenough, was the contractor.

In 1930 the course was ranked in the top 15 by Dr. H. J. Morlan who had played more than 800 golf courses in the world. Not too long ago it was still ranked among the top 100. The 12th hole is one of the most difficult in Northern California, having four trees down the middle of the fairway. The 18th tee is probably the most picturesque because of the spectacular view of San Francisco and almost the entire Bay Area.

"Home of Champions." Those are the bywords for the Stanford University Athletic Department.

And for good reason. No athletic department in the country can boast of the kind of success that Stanford has accomplished since the 1980s. NCAA team champions. NCAA individual champions. Olympic medalists. Stanford University athletes have been all over the world capturing championships.

The statistics speak for themselves: Stanford University has won 58 NCAA team championships and 213 individual NCAA titles since 1980, the most in the nation; Cardinal athletes have won 49 NCAA championships the past 13 years (1985-98) – again the most in the nation. A year ago, Stanford won five NCAA team championships, which followed the '96-97 year in which Cardinal teams won an unprecedented six NCAA team titles. In 1991-92, Stanford athletes took home 29 individual NCAA titles – an NCAA record. Cardinal athletes won 21 individual championships during the 1992-93 season, the second most in history.

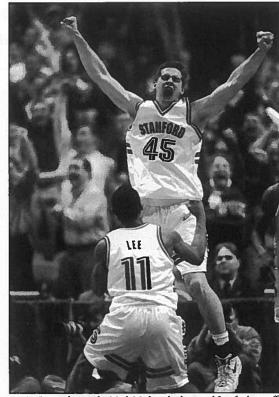

For the past four years, Stanford has won the Sears Directors' Cup – emblematic of the nation's top athletic program. Cardinal teams have dominated the Sears Cup standings the past two years, giving rise to Stanford Athletics as being the number-one overall athletic program in the nation.

All totaled, Stanford has won 84 collegiate team titles (75 NCAA championships) and 313 NCAA individual titles. Cardinal women have won an NCAA-best 24 team championships.

During the past two years, Stanford athletics has captured an amazing 11 NCAA team championships and 13 national titles overall – by far the best in the nation. In the last seven years (since 1991-92), Stanford has claimed 33 national team championships and 31 NCAA team titles – once again the best in the country.

In Olympic competition, Stanford has enjoyed unequaled success. At the 1992 Games in Barcelona, Cardinal athletes earned 19 medals, 10 gold, four silver and five bronze. If Stanford were a country, it would've placed 13th in the world with its 19 medals and ninth with 10 golds. Thirty-eight Stanford-affiliated athletes and coaches participated in Barcelona while 41 members of the Cardinal family took part in the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, Korea.

At the 1996 Games in Atlanta, Stanford again placed 49 coaches and athletes on Olympic Teams, including three head United States Olympic coaches (Tara VanDerveer, women's basketball; Richard Quick, women's swimming; Skip Kenney, men's swimming). Stanford athletes accounted for 16 gold medals, one silver and one bronze in Atlanta.

An Art Lee steal ... and a Mark Madsen dunk ... and Stanford was off to the 1998 Final Four, dropping only to eventual NCAA Champion Kentucky in overtime in perhaps the most exciting game of the tourney.

NCAA titles have become quite commonplace in the Stanford Athletic Department. In 1996-97, Cardinal teams set an NCAA record by winning six NCAA team championships in a single academic year: men's and women's cross country, men's and women's volleyball and men's and women's tennis. Nine other teams finished in the top-four nationally, including second place finishes in women's swimming, men's swimming, men's water polo and women's synchronized swimming, third place finishes in women's basketball, baseball and fencing, and fourth place finishes in women's golf and women's water polo.

1996-97 also saw the Cardinal football team advance to the Sun Bowl, the 18th bowl game in school history, the women's basketball team return to the Final Four, the baseball team qualify for the College World Series and the men's basketball team advance to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA Tournament for the first time since they the 1942 NCAA title.

Last year, Stanford won NCAA team titles in men's cross country, women's volleyball, men's swimming, women's swimming and men's tennis along with a U.S. Collegiate title in synchronized swimming. Also, Fourteen teams finished among the nation's top five, 19 in the top 10 and 22 in the top 20. Other teams finishing among the top five nationally include men's basketball, which made its first Final Four appearance in 56 years, women's tennis, men's water polo, women's water polo and fencing.

Stanford has won five NCAA titles in a single year on three occasions: 1991-92, '94-95 and '97-98. Cardinal teams have won four championships in a single academic year on four occasions: 1985-86, '86-87, '92-93 and '93-94.

The title, "NCAA Champion of Champions," emblematic of the school that wins the most NCAA titles in a single season, has been given to Stanford 11 times in the last 13 years.

Conference championships are also an annual ritual on The Farm. Last season, no less than 17 Stanford teams won their conference title, bringing the total to 71 in the last six years and 80 in the past seven seasons.

Head men's tennis coach Dick Gould (right) has produced 16 NCAA titles during his tenure. The women's program has added 10 titles. kotathan Mead Stanford has simply dominated in several sports. Under head coach Dick Gould, the Cardinal men's tennis team has won 16 NCAA titles while the women's team has hauled in 10 national titles, all but one under current head coach Frank Brennan. The men's swimming program has won eight NCAA team championships, seven under current head coach Skip Kenney while the men's water polo team has captured eight national titles, seven under current head coach Dante Dettamanti.

The Cardinal women's swimming team has won nine national titles, seven under current head coach Richard Quick. Both Quick and Kenney were head coaches of the 1996 United States Olympic Swimming Teams. Tara VanDerveer, the 1996 United States Olympic Head Women's Basketball Coach, has led the Cardinal to two NCAA championships and five appearances in the Final Four.

Baseball coach Mark Marquess, who was the head coach of the gold medal winning 1988 United States Olympic baseball team, led the Cardinal to back-to-back College World Series titles in 1987 and '88. Men's gymnastics coach Sadao Hamada has led the Cardinal to three NCAA championships, women's volleyball coach Don Shaw has guided his team to four NCAA titles in the last six years and men's golf coach Wally Goodwin led his team to the NCAA title in 1994, the first men's golf title at Stanford since 1953. Vin Lananna joined the championship parade in 1996 by leading both his men's and women's cross country teams to national titles. He came back in 1997 to lead his men's cross country team to another NCAA title.

Stanford captured two consecutive NCAA titles in 1987 and 1988. Head Coach Mark Marquess is one of the winningest coaches in collegiate baseball.

The women's volleyball team captured NCAA title in 1992, '94, '96 and '97.

Dave Gonzale

Olympic gold medalists are numerous on The Farm. Former Cardinal standout Bob Mathias won back-to-back Olympic decathlon gold medals in 1948 and '52 while swimmers Pablo Morales, Jenny Thompson, Summer Sanders and Janet Evans have become house-hold names in the swimming world.

Morales, who helped Stanford win three straight NCAA team championships (1985-87), won three medals at the '84 Games in Los Angeles (one gold, two silver) and two more gold medals at the '92 Games in Barcelona. Evans won three golds in the '88 Games in Seoul and one gold and one silver in Barcelona while Sanders won four medals in Barcelona, two gold, one silver and one bronze. Thompson has won five Olympic gold medals and tied for the most Olympic gold medals by a U.S. woman.

Some of the great student-athletes in Stanford history include Tiger Woods and Tom Watson (golf), John McEnroe (tennis), Kim Oden (volleyball), Kristin Folkl (basketball/volleyball), Jack McDowell and Mike Mussina (baseball), Hank Luisetti and Brevin Knight (men's basketball), Jennifer Azzi and Kate Starbird (women's basketball), Jim Plunkett and John Elway (football), Debi Thomas (figure skating), Eric Heiden (speed skating) and the great Ernie Nevers (football), to name a few.

It's no wonder Stanford University is often referred to as the "NCAA's Champion of Champions."

Stanford's football team has made four bowl appearances during the '90s.

Stanford University still enjoys the original 8,100 acres of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy.

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, "Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly."

For the Stanfords on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation's center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country: many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East - the first year foretold greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, "Even our fondest hopes have been

Ideas of "Practical Education"

Governor and Mrs. Stanford had come from families of modest means and had built their way up through a life of hard work. So it was natural that their first thoughts were to establish an institution where young men and women could "grapple successfully with the practicalities of life." As their thoughts matured, these ideas of "practical education" enlarged to the concept of producing cultured and useful citizens who were well-prepared for professional success.

More than one hundred years later, the university still enjoys the original 8,180 acres (almost 13 square miles) of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy, as well as the Quadrangle of "long corridors with their stately pillars" at the center of campus. It is still true, as the philosopher William James said, during his stint as a visiting professor, that the climate is "so friendly ... that every morning wakes one fresh for new amounts of work."

Current Perspectives

In other ways, the University has changed tremendously on its way to recognition as one of the world's great universities. At the hub of a vital and diverse Bay Area, Stanford is an hour's drive south of San Francisco and just a few miles north University's faculty and graduates. On campus, students and faculty enjoy new libraries, modern laboratories, sports facilities, and comfortable residences. Contemporary sculpture, as well as pieces from the Stanford Museum's extensive collection of sculpture by Auguste Rodin, is placed throughout the campus, providing unexpected pleasures at many turns. At the Stanford Medical Center, world-renowned for its

of the Silicon Valley, an area dotted with computer and high technology firms largely spawned by the research, teaching, and patient care, scientists and physicians are searching for answers to fundamental questions about health and disease. Ninety miles down the coast, at Stanford's Hopkins Marine Station on the Monterey Bay, scientists are working to better understand the mechanisms of evolution, human development, and ecological systems.

The University is organized into seven schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, the Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Law and Medicine. In addition, there are more than 30 interdisciplinary centers, programs, and research laboratories — including the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace; the Institute for International Studies; the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; and the Stanford Center for the Study of Families, Children and Youth – where faculty from a wide range of fields bring different perspectives to bear on issues and problems. Stanford's Overseas Studies Program offers students in all fields remarkable opportunities for study abroad, with campuses in Paris, Kyoto, Santiago, Berlin, Oxford, Florence, and Moscow.

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford's faculty – which numbers approximately 1,500 – is one of the most distinguished in the nation. It includes 12 Nobel laureates, 6 Pulitzer Prize winners, 20 National Medal of Science winners, 109 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 208 members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 72 members of the National Academy of Engineering, and 21 members of the National Academy of Education. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates

Stanford draws from the best students and faculty through-

Currently 13,900 students, of which 6,500 are undergraduates, live and study on campus. About 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and approximately 100 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, 44 percent are African American, Asian American, Hispanic or Native American. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished. Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class. Seventy-six

Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars and 52 have been named Marshall Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom – from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in dozens of community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 33 Division I varsity sports – equally divided between men's and women's teams. Of Stanford's 84 national team titles, 32 have been captured in the past eight years, by far the most in the nation in the 1990s. Thirty-eight of Stanford's athletes and coaches participated in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona while 49 competed in Atlanta at the 1996 Games – by far the most of any university in the nation. Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,000 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program has reached 9,000, with many students active in more than one sport.

Looking Ahead

In her address to the Board of Trustees, in 1904, Jane Stanford said, "... Let us not be afraid to outgrow old thoughts and ways, and dare to think on new lines as to the future of the work under our care." Her thoughts echo in the words of current Stanford President Gerhard Casper, who has said, "The true university must reinvent itself every day.... At Stanford, these are days of such reconsideration and fresh support for our fundamental tasks – teaching, learning, and
